RISAT-2B

CONTEXT:

- The highly agile satellite, RISAT-2B is capable of operating in different modes including Very High Resolution RADAR imaging modes of 1m x 0.5m resolution and 0.5m x 0.3m resolution.

ABOUT:

- The RISAT has been equipped with a sensor known as ‘synthetic aperture radar’, which takes what are known as ‘radar images’.
- It is equipped with an active sensor, the synthetic aperture radar (SAR), which can sense or ‘observe’ Earth in a special way from space day and night, rain or cloud.
- This all-weather seeing feature is what makes it special for security forces and disaster relief agencies.
- The SAR send out hundreds of radio signals every second towards the subject (in this case, the earth) and capture the reflected signals to create a radio image, which can then be used by computers to build a real image.
- RISAT-2B was launched from Sriharikota and this marked the resumption of a vital ring of Indian all-seeing radar imaging satellites after seven years.

Benefits

- It sends much heavier data than plain remote sensing satellites.
- This satellite picks up structures, new bunkers very well, and sometimes helps to count them, too.
- In India, this will be used for crop estimation because main crop growing season of kharif is in May-September when it rains and gets cloudy. This data is extensively used for forestry, soil, land use, geology and during floods and cyclone. So it can be used for applications in agriculture, forestry and disaster management support.

ELECTRICITY GENERATION THROUGH ATOMIC ENERGY

CONTEXT:

- Government has taken several steps to increase the nuclear power capacity and to provide adequate quantity of fuel and to increase the share of nuclear power generation.

ABOUT:

- The share of atomic energy in the overall electricity generation in the country was about 2.93% in the year 2017-18.
Nuclear share has remained around 3% of the total electricity generation in the country. The main reason for low share has been the low installed capacity base. The reasons for low capacity base are:

- Technology development and international embargo regime that persisted from 1974 to 2008. As a result, all the technologies for nuclear power including the fuel cycle technologies had to be developed within the country, thus took time.
- Another constraint faced during the first two decades was availability of financial resources, as it had to solely depend on budgetary support. However, the earlier constraints have now been overcome and nuclear power programme is poised for rapid expansion.

To increase the share of nuclear power generation, the Government has taken several steps to increase the nuclear power capacity and to provide adequate quantity of fuel. These include:

- Accord of administrative approval and financial sanction of - ten (10) indigenous 700 MW Pressurized Heavy Water Reactors (PHWRs) to be set up in fleet mode & two (02) units of Light Water Reactors (LWRs) to be set up in cooperation with Russian Federation.
- Amendment of the Atomic Energy Act to enable Joint Ventures of Public Sector Companies to set up nuclear power projects.
- Entering into enabling agreements with foreign countries for nuclear power cooperation including supply of fuel.

27 SETTING UP OF NEUTRINO OBSERVATORY

CONTEXT:
- Government of India has approved a project to build the India-based Neutrino Observatory (INO) at Pottipuram in the Theni District of Tamil Nadu.

ABOUT:
More on news:
- The project aims to set up a 51000 ton Iron Calorimeter (ICAL) detector to observe naturally occurring atmospheric neutrinos in a cavern at the end of an approximately 2 km long tunnel in a mountain.
- The Tata Institute of Fundamental Research is the nodal institution. The observatory is to be built jointly with the Department of Atomic Energy and the Department of Science and Technology.
This will help to reduce the noise from cosmic rays that are ever present over-ground and which would outnumber the rare neutrino interactions even in a detector as large as ICAL.

The INO project does not disturb the ecosystem around the site and does not release any radiation, as it does not have any radioactive substance. It measures cosmic rays.

There is no other neutrino detector anywhere in India at present. ICAL at INO would be the first of its type.

Why are the locals opposing it?

- Locals fear that the excavation and blasts needed to bore the tunnel in the mountains will endanger the biodiversity of the Western Ghats.
- Some of the concerns voiced range from radiation, structural damage to the mountain to emission of hazardous chemicals.

What is a neutrino?

- Neutrinos are the smallest particles that form the universe.

Who else has a neutrino facility?

- Underground: Canada, Kamioka in Japan and Gran Sasso, Italy

- Later, in 2013, due to civil society and judicial influence, the landmark National Food Security Act (NFSA) was passed by Parliament. It made the right to food a legal entitlement for two-thirds of poor households in India.

Objectives of the scheme

- To integrate the existing PDS systems/portals of States/UTs with the Central Systems/portals.
- Implementation of nation-wide portability of ration cards to lift foodgrains from any fair price shop (FPS) across the country, moving towards ‘one nation one ration card’.
- One Nation, One Ration Card will mostly assist seasonal and circular migrant workers to have better access to PDS, both, at source and destination.
- It is based on two important guiding principles: Aadhar and digitalisation of ration cards.
- National level de-duplication of ration cards/beneficiary. It will bring more transparency and efficiency in distribution of food grains as it will improve the mechanism to identify duplicate ration cards.

Challenges of the scheme

- The authorities can be expected to encounter hard-hitting ground realities for designing and implementing the scheme.
- The first hurdles will be to have exact data on the mobility of poor households migrating to work, locating intra- and inter-state destinations and sectors employing the workers.
- Secondly, the domicile-based legislation for accessing government schemes and social security needs serious rethinking before making ‘One Nation, One Ration Card’ portable.
- Portability of Integrated Child Development Services, Mid-Day Meals, immunisation, health care and other facilities for poor migrant households can’t be neglected and should be made portable.
- It is feared that both Aadhar and digital ration card may exclude either a person who migrates alone, or migrates with his family or the left-behind vulnerable family member who stays back in the village.
- The Rastriya Sawtya Bima Yojna (RSBY), the national health insurance scheme of the Indian government, had an interesting component of splitting the unique insurance card to help both migrants and those left behind.
- This component from RSBY may be adopted in devising PDS access to both migrants and those left behind. Moreover, Aadhar seeding and the biometric authentication of eligible migrant workers at the destination may create obstacles for hassle-free access to PDS both, at source and destination.
- Finally, there are multiple social security, welfare, food and anti-poverty schemes in India, in addition to an array of labour laws.
Therefore, the ‘One Nation, One Ration Card’ should create inclusion in food schemes, both, at source and destination, without negating the very spirit of ensuring household food security of the migrant family.
